ANALDEHYDE HOME HEALTH IS PRICELESS

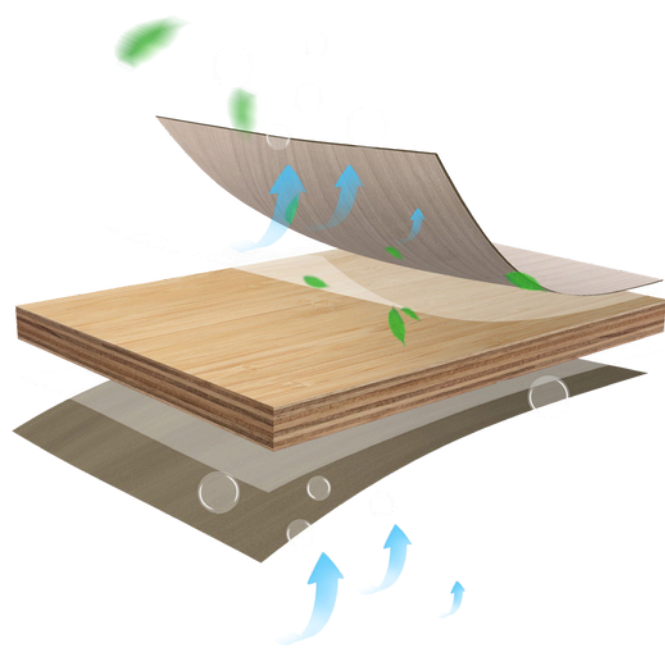

ENF environmental protection board brings health into the home

ANALDEHYDE HOME HEALTH IS PRICELESS

The World Health Organization (WHO) issued Notice No. 153 in 2004 that "formaldehyde is a strong and highly toxic carcinogen". And can cause throat pain leukemia. When the formaldehyde content in the indoor air is 0.1mg/m3, there will be obvious Discomfort, causing dizziness, and other symptoms, up to 30mg/m3, will immediately cause death.

Beijing Children's Hospital
90% of children with leukemia had their homes renovated six months earlier.

According to research from Yokohama University in Japan, furniture made of wood-based panels,
The formaldehyde release cycle in building materials is as long as 3-15 years.

ENF level

China's new national standard from 2021,
Corresponding to the standard of formaldehyde emission of interior decoration materials, minutes
For ENF, EO, E1 three levels, eliminated E2 level will be the highest standard
The standard is raised to ENF level, which is much higher than the original national and international standards.

Grade P & NAF

The California Air Resources Board (CARB) targets wood products
Divided into P1, P2, and the highest NAF(formaldehyde free exemption certification) three levels,
At present, it is the most widely used area of EPA-NAF in the United States, and it has the corresponding legal effect standards in the United States.

E Grade

According to European environmental protection standards, wood products are divided into E0, E1 and E2 levels according to the amount of formaldehyde released.

F Grade

It is Japan's standard system for the release of free formaldehyde, which is divided into four grades, and the testing standard is more stringent and environmentally friendly than the European E grade and the original Chinese standard.
